More information about the game

An Ascendant's True Partner: The Empyrean

Before the start of the game, each player chooses an Empyrean from one of five Races to fight along with.

Empyreans are extremely powerful beings who are summoned from the very life force of the lands from which the Ascendants reside. Legend has it that their very existence is materialized from the will of the people, giving the Empyreans powerful abilities that reflect that Race's way of life.

Races of Aetheros

Each race has its own characteristics. Find the Race that suits you most!

Werebeasts

Part human part beast, the Werebeast Race thrives in the evergreen forests. They are friendly and welcoming to new citizens regardless of descent.

Succubus

These sultry demons are the only beings in Aetheros that have the ability to corrupt Sky Shards. They are disliked by all for their habit of "borrowing" items without returning them.

Seraphim

They are a noble and proud Race with wings resembling that of an angel's. Despite their appearance, the Seraphim Race are actually masters of destruction.

Yokai

They are demonic spirits who hail from the furthest corner of Aetheros. These creatures are said to cause disease, famine and sometimes even death.

Elf

An enigmatic Race known for their elegance and innocence. They strive for peace and balance, which puts them at odds with the Seraphim.

The Exiled

Not a Race but consists of those banished from their respective Races for varying reasons. Lured by the chance of being released from exile, these beings also participate in the Ascendancies.

Win by Acquiring Sky Shards

Sky Shards are what you need to win the game.

During the game, players can recruit Lightbringers who will aid in acquiring the Sky Shards for you. Sky Shards have abilities that affect the game, and also enable Empyreans and Lightbringers to use special powers.
